He has broad shoulders and a lean, muscular, athletic build. He keeps a polished and clean-cut appearance with short hair, a clean-shaven face, and business-casual style of dress.

Maynard is hardworking, focused, and driven. When not busy with medical school he spends time with his family and stays active running, lifting weights, skiing, hiking, and mountain biking. He is from a large close-knit family, and he is a father with children of his own. He is very altruistic and taking care of people, whether it be family, friends, or patients, is very important to him. Maynard feels honored to have the opportunity to help others to help others have children and grow their families.
