

Arnie 10625

Arnie is an educated, determined, and very kind man. He has a relaxed and easy-going personality. He also has beautiful hazel eyes and light brown hair, with rounded cheeks and full lips. We loved the fact that he is on an impressive path, studying aerospace engineering, and has a bright future ahead of him, as he plans to become a pilot in the US Marine Corps. Arnie is also very close with his family and has a positive relationship with his siblings, we love hearing about his adventures with them during childhood.

Arnie also loves to play lacrosse and speaks Japanese as a second language! We know we can always count on him to teach us something new. When chatting with him, it was refreshing to hear how open-minded he was about our donor program and thought that it was not only a way to make an extra income but a way to help families struggling with infertility. If you are looking for a smart and empathetic donor, Arnie is the right choice.
